Introduction

Extensive flooding and rainfall from March 2019 through July 2019 resulted in disaster events that were declared under two federal declarations. DR-4435 began March 11, 2019 through April 16, 2019, due to straight-line winds and flooding, while DR-4451 began April 29, 2019 through July 5, 2019, due to flooding, straight-line winds, and tornadoes that ravaged Carl Junction, Eldon and Jefferson City.

The National Disaster Recovery Framework establishes Recovery Support Functions (RSFs) based on sector and core capability. Each RSF is responsible for coordinating federal actions in support of these core capabilities. In DR-4435 and DR-4451 the following RSFs were integrated into the Joint Field Office: Agriculture led by USDA, as a unique RSF to address the significant damages to the State's agricultural sector and the associated impacts on all other sectors; Community Planning and Capacity Building (CPCB) led by FEMA; Economic led by EDA; Housing led by HUD; Infrastructure led by USACE; Natural and Cultural Resources led by the Department of the Interior. Health and Social Services was not activated, although those elements are currently integrated through all other RSFs as appropriate.

Based on the National Disaster Recovery Framework (NDRF), the Missouri Disaster Recovery Framework (MDRF) incorporates proven recovery principles, aligning with the national coordination structure to better address gaps and needs, avoid duplication of efforts, and leverage resources during long-term recovery. The coordination structure identifies leadership positions, defines roles and responsibilities, and encompasses all functions of a community.

Key leadership positions include the State and Federal Disaster Recovery Coordinator and Recovery Support Function Coordinators. Six Recovery Support Functions (RSFs) address the core capabilities needed for a community to recover successfully from a disaster or other adverse event. At the State level, the following RSF areas have been activated for DR-4435 and DR-4451: Agriculture led by the Missouri Department of Agriculture; Community, which deals with local management and planning capacity, Economic led by Missouri Department of Economic Development; Housing led by the Missouri State Treasurer's Office and MHDC; Infrastructure Systems led by the Missouri Department of Transportation; and Natural and Cultural Resources led by the Missouri Department of Natural Resources.

This guide, divided by Recovery Support Functions and drafted by the Interagency Recovery Coordination Team, should serve as a tool for grant awareness, capacity building, and potential resources.

Respectfully submitted,

Jessica Catron

State Disaster Recovery Coordinator (SDRC)
